Membership Criteria

- i. Holds an appropriate qualification in agriculture and/or natural resource management; or
- ii. Has achieved professional status and a position of professional responsibility through a combination of post-secondary education and a minimum of ten years practical experience in agriculture and/or natural resource management.

Why join?

The Australian Institute of Agricultural Science and Technology (AIAST) is Australia's leading membership body for professionals working in agriculture and natural resource management (NRM). AIAST is committed to advancing the profession and the application of science and technology for the sustainable development of agriculture and NRM in Australia.

We are proud of the fact that many of our members have been at the forefront of advances in agriculture which have led to significant improvements in productivity, sustainability and profitability.

With around 2000 members working across all sectors of the industry Australia wide, becoming an AIAST member provides you with unique opportunities to network and contribute to the advancement and recognition of agricultural science socially, environmentally and economically.

AIAST continues to make important contributions to public policy and to the debate on key issues through its membership of the Federation of Australian Science and Technology Societies (FASTS) and the involvement of AIAST members.

What do you get for your membership dollar?
